

Partnership in Equality

Engender in partnership with BEMIS (with Funding from EHRC) will be setting up a ‘Women Thinking Equality Group’ for women to develop their understanding of the different discrimination and injustices people face in Scotland, and how these form of discrimination overlap and interlink.

We would like to form a pro active group to have your input into the experiences, and implications for individuals and Scotland’s social, political and economic development due to discrimination injustices. In addition, we would like to have your input into how and what can be done to change in order to support an equal multicultural Scotland and quality of equality for all.

We are keen to work with a group of 30 women of diverse backgrounds and status to seek input from their perspectives looking at ideas and contributions to what can and needs to change in support of equality in Scotland.

You are invited to join and proactively participate in a ‘Women Thinking Equalities’ think tank, to reflect on equalities from a gendered perspective, and develop your skills and capacity to influence change?

We will be facilitating (with funding from the Equality and Human Rights Commission) setting up and working closely with such group to secure their participation, inputs , sharing learning while providing necessary training.
